

Plenty of Work Found for Former Ex-Presidents to Do

When Andrew Carnegie of Pittsburgh and Skibo Castle offered to give President Taft a $25,000 pension the famous ironmaster stirred up a controversy that has since been the subject of universal peace.

Moreover, he stirred some inquiry as to the means by which former presidents managed to keep the wolf from their doors after they had been bowed out of the secure shelter of the white house. And this inquiry resulted in the conclusion that the job of chief executive of these United States is a profitable one—not because of the salary it pays during incumbency, but because of the subsequent possibilities of capitalizing the prestige it confers on the holder, says the Boston Herald.

Merely to have held the office is worth $40,000 a year to any man, as is shown by the not very sad case of Mr. Roosevelt, for example. Before leaving the white house he was beset with tempting offers from publishers and other business concerns. He was invited to name his own price for his services. The outlook's proposition was most attractive, and he took it. Nothing much resembling work was required of him. He was to be at liberty to write as much or as little as he wanted. His employment as a contributing editor to a brand-new species of job in the west, was worth his pay as an advertisement of the magazine.

Politics has occupied most of Mr. Roosevelt's attention since the Outlook engaged him, but his salary has gone on just the same. He is a skillful writer, but it was his name that counted. Mr. Cleveland, after he became a former president, did a good deal of writing at high prices. Magazine editors were eager to employ him at an enormous salary as an adviser, and he was expected to attract. He argued one case before the United States supreme court and lost it, though several members of that august body had been appointed by himself. Later on his legal work was mainly in the line of lucrative refereeing.

Benjamin Harrison was a lawyer and had never managed to earn much money in the business. But after he left the white house his services were sought by corporations, which paid him large fees—often as much as $10,000 in a single case. The government gave him $100,000 in a lump for one case in California, and him on the rolls as a non-resident professor at $10,000 a year to deliver a dozen lectures annually. A well known woman's magazine paid him $1,000 a page for a series of dry articles.

Rutherford B. Hayes, tired of taking part in national affairs, went back to Fremont, O., where he dwelt in what he called "delightful retirement."

Four former presidents have taken to the law. Of these Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison were two. James Monroe on leaving the white house was in debt, and, being anxious to recoup his finances, went to New York instead of going back to his home in London county, Va. But at that epoch the commercial value of a former chief magistrate had not come to be appreciated, and the author of the famous doctrine made rather a failure of it.

Five presidents dabbled more or less in literature after their departure from the white house. John Adams, in retirement at Quincy, compiled historical data. Grant wrote, almost on his deathbed, a book about the civil war which earned a fortune and provided for his family. Cleveland, Benjamin Harrison and Roosevelt did magazine work. Five traveled extensively abroad—Van Buren, Fillmore, Pierce, Grant and Roosevelt. Grant's tour around the world was an historic episode.

Two former presidents occupied seats in congress—Andrew Johnson and John Quincy Adams. The former led the simple life at Knoxville for half a dozen years and was then sent back to Washington as a senator. He died less than a year later. Adams was nearly 60 years old when his term was up, and he would have liked to go back to Quincy and his books, as his father did, but the folks of his home district wanted him to be their representative, and he consented to serve. For nineteen years he led his party in the house.

Polk and Van Buren were both wealthy. The latter did not take the trouble to draw his salary until the end of his term, paying all expenses out of his private purse. Then he took the $100,000 due him in one lump. He was the richest of the presidents except Washington. Surviving until 1852, he saw the civil war begin.

Madison left a considerable estate, but it was dissipated by a worthless son. Congress paid his widow $20,000 for her husband's papers (which today are among the greatest treasures preserved in the library of congress), and this was nearly all she had to live on during the last years of her life.

IS THIS WOMAN GIFTED WITH STRANGE POWER?

The Rich, Poor, Exalted and Humble Seek Her Advice on Business, Friends, Enemies, Changes, Speculations, Love Affairs, Journeys and All Events of Life.

Some of Albuquerque's Most Prominent People Say That She Reveals Their Lives With Amazing Accuracy.

Mrs. W. Fischer, the gifted clairvoyant and medium who has permanently located in private residence, 117 West 6th avenue, gives startling proof of her strange and wonderful power. She simply baffles description and amazes those who have called upon her. And judging from the crowds that are constantly visiting her parlors the truth of her remarkable readings must have been heralded from mouth to mouth. Some of the most prominent people of Albuquerque have consulted her and have gone away satisfied that she is truly a great clairvoyant. Her power excites the wonder and admiration even of the most skeptical. She is a woman of the kindest feelings, sympathetic and gracious and enters into a close and harmonious communication with those who are in distress, or who are in trouble, and especially those who seek light on matters they cannot safely entrust to anyone. A prominent business man called on Mrs. Fischer in regard to lost papers. He says she soon located them. He has them now and the Madam is a great deal richer than she was before.

A few days ago a husband and wife had become estranged. There was no reason for it, as there seldom is, but still there was a separation. One of them laid the case before Mrs. Fischer. The husband and wife have had a glorious reunion. The clouds of discord have been dispelled. There is sunshine in that home today. Happy tranquility has taken the place of turbulence. The transformation cannot be rewarded by coin. Heartfelt gratitude alone can settle that account.

An engagement of marriage had been broken. There was a very unhappy young woman on one side and a not too delighted man on the other. Each had a hand in the breach. This wonderful woman brought these separated ones together. The sacred contract has been renewed and a home is being prepared for the bride and groom. Each has seen the error that has caused them to drift apart. Their eyes are opened now, and who was it that caused them to see? This wonderful woman who appears able to tell and do all things.

The fact that Mrs. Fischer stood the test of time proves beyond a question of a doubt that every statement she makes can be relied upon and that her ability in bringing about so very remarkable results in domestic and financial affairs need not be questioned by the most skeptical. Facts are stubborn things and Mrs. Fischer can prove that by the apparently impossible things she has accomplished.

The proper investment of money is always a question prevalent among the most ambitious people. How to invest their money so that the principal will be absolutely safe and the returns large enough to warrant the investment is the problem. A few dollars properly invested is certain to bring a golden reward. Many fortunes have been made by the investment of a small sum of money. Investments and greater fortunes are still to be made. The chance for the careful investor is always great. Wealth has never been greater than at the present time in Albuquerque. Why should you not grasp this opportunity of bettering your financial condition?

WHEN IN DOUBT OR IN TROUBLE about buying or selling, investing or changing, call and get the advice of a medium who will make everything clear, and the benefit derived from a lucid reading will more than repay you. If you are melancholy, worried or discouraged through unpleasant domestic conditions and financial affairs, you should consult Mrs. Fischer. There is nothing too difficult for her. In fact, she guarantees everything she undertakes or no charge. Mrs. Fischer is not permanently located in her own private residence, 117 West 6th avenue. Her parlors are so arranged as to secure privacy and seclusion. All matters are treated in sacred confidence. Hours 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. English and German are spoken.

All Right. The prisoner was but a slight man, and yet he struggled with almost superhuman strength so that Bertillon experts had bound him hand and foot, and he comforted himself to such a degree that it was impossible to get him in front of the camera. Finally, one of the plain clothes braves handed him a jolt hard enough to make him sit still a minute. "We ain't a goin' to murder you," explained this minion of the law. "Set still and be mugged."

"But what do you want my picture for?" gasped the prisoner. "For de rogue's gallery." "Oh, pardon me for resisting," said the poor wretch, relaxing immediately and assuming a 16-a-don smile. "I thought it was for a newspaper."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SPELTER PRODUCTION IN 1912.

The geological survey has just issued its advance statement of spelter production and consumption in 1912. This statement, prepared by C. E. Siebenthal, gives the final figures of output by the nine smelters for the year, distributed both by states producing the ore and by states in which the ore was smelted. It also gives a measure of the zinc mining industry as well as of the zinc smelting industry. The zinc ore made into pigments is not included in this statement, hence the full extent of the zinc mining industry is not covered. The imports and exports of spelter, zinc dross, and zinc ore are also given, as well as a list of smelters and their capacity, revised to the close of 1912, together with additions being built during the first months of 1913. A long chart shows graphically the fluctuations for the last seven years in the price of spelter both at St. Louis and at London and in the price of 60 per cent zinc concentrates at Joplin.

The production in the United States of spelter made from ore, both domestic and foreign, was 238,800 short tons, an increase of 22,250 tons, or 10.2 per cent, over that of the previous year and by far the largest output in the history of the industry. The final figures show that the survey's estimate of production given out January 2, 1913, was too low by only 174 tons, or five one-hundredths of 1 per cent.

The spelter made in the United States from foreign zinc concentrates amounted to 14,895 tons, almost exactly the same as in 1911 and considerably less than in 1910 and several preceding years. The production of spelter from secondary sources such as skimmings and drosses also made large gains, being estimated at 50,000 tons, of which 21,000 tons was redistributed, namely at the regular zinc smelters using ore and partly at plants devoted exclusively to the redistribution of secondary materials. The consumption in the United States of spelter made from ore was 349,372 tons, an increase of 69,315 tons, or 24.5 per cent, over that of the previous year. The increase in consumption was made possible by the large imports of spelter. For the last four months of the year the average St. Louis price of spelter was more than 14 cents above the London price. It was during this period that the largest part of the 14,115 tons of foreign spelter was imported.

The list of smelters shows a total capacity of 107,948 retorts at the close of 1912, with additions of 12,216 retorts under construction. With the exception of 2,74 retorts the additions are all in Illinois. It should be borne in mind that all of this capacity will not be effective for smelting ore, for several of the plants listed are devoted partly or exclusively to the recovery of spelter from secondary materials.

Jess Ortley Back, Alto St., Santa Fe, N. Mex., says: "In 1907 I used Doan's Kidney Pills for pains in my back which had troubled me for three years. They brought prompt relief and proved so satisfactory that I gave a public statement in their praise. Now after two and a half years have passed, I gladly confirm every word of that testimonial. ## "KINDLING" IS PLAY WITH A STRONG "PUNCH"

One of Big Dramatic Successes of Period Comes to Elks Theater on Saturday Night.

"Kindling," one of the big dramatic successes of the period and considered by many critics the best play of the decade, comes to the Elks' theater Saturday night with Sarah Padden as its star. "Kindling" was written by Charles Kenyon, a Californian, who has come before the public only once before—as author of "The Flag Station," a one-act vaudeville playlet. It enjoys the distinction, along with "The Blue Bird" of having the endorsement of the Drama League of America. "Kindling," as Kenyon has written it, has one quality which nineteen dramas out of twenty lack—"the punch." It reaches across the footlights. Along with the laughs it brings the tears from eyes unused to weep. It is, however, a pleasant story and has an unusually satisfactory ending. Sarah Padden, one of the most popular and talented of the younger dramatic stars, will be seen in the leading role.

EASY DIVORCE EVIL SCORED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Feb. 25.—"Divorces seem to be granted here because a husband has a wooden leg or because a wife pulled him out of bed by the whiskers, because the wife appropriated the husband's percolating coffee pot or because a husband kept a beer saloon. A nurse married a sick man expecting him to die and then sued him and secured a divorce on the ground of fraud when he recovered."

In these words Francis Minor Moody, secretary of the Illinois commission on marriage and divorce characterized before a meeting last night of the Empire club, of Chicago, the extent of the present evils which the commission is exerting itself to remedy.

TULAROSA WATER CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT BY JUDGE MEDLER

[Special Correspondence to the Herald.] Alamogordo, N. M., Feb. 25.—In the hearing on the Tularosa water suit before Judge E. L. Medler at Las Cruces, on motion to reopen the case to introduce new evidence, the court took the matter under advisement and will render a decision at some later time.

Half an inch of rain fell here Tuesday, commencing about 1 o'clock in the afternoon and continuing for some four hours. The heavy flow of water in the ditches indicated even heavier rain in the eastern part of town and out toward the foothills. At the same time there was a heavy fall of snow all along the ridge of the Sacramento.

An entertainment in the form of an old-fashioned country singing school will be given Friday night at the high school auditorium. Two costumes and the vocal selections will belong to the period of fifty years ago. Considerable time has been spent on rehearsals.

The trees in the courthouse square are the last ones that are public property to be trimmed. Nearly all of the shade trees in Alamogordo are cottonwoods. The courthouse square is filled with Carolina poplars, and are decidedly the prettiest trees in town. A social dance will be given Saturday evening at the Beavers hall by the Alamogordo orchestra. The orchestra has been practicing strenuously on a number of new selections and promises a musical treat. C. F. Barrett has relieved R. D. Hiller as agent for the El Paso & Southwestern at Cloudcroft. Mr. Hiller is from the Don Luis station on the western division. Mr. Hiller goes to Ancho, on the main line of the eastern division.

NO LONGER CRANKY ABOUT HIS MEALS

Has Perfect Digestion From the Use of a Well-Known Remedy That All Can Obtain.

MR. L. J. QUINN

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table, depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experience of some former dyspeptics who overcome their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

In the opinion of such people as Mr. L. J. Quinn, 117 Newport Ave., Chicago, it is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe, constipation no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

Mr. Quinn says: "We use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as a family remedy and every member of the family from the five-year-old, who is the youngest of six children, to Mrs. Quinn and myself, use it for stomach trouble, sick headache and to regulate the bowels."

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families as ready familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed to you.

Good Roads and Their Effect Upon the High Cost of Living

FIGURES SHOW HOW PAVED ROADS RAISE LAND VALUES
 • Real estate, city and county, in Cuyahoga county, ten years ago, $171,973,946.
 • Land value today, $405,519,960.
 • Increase, $233,546,014.
 • Rural real estate ten years ago, $129,080,000.
 • Value today, $101,000,000.
 • Increase, $28,080,000.
 • At the present tax rate of 1.34 this rural increase would yield enough to build 55 miles of road every year.

tried to exact a secret from a certain ex-president.

"Are you or ain't you," teased William.

"My hat is in the ring," was the sarcastic response. But William F. Erick shines as a good roads apostle, even more than as an extractor of ex-presidential secrets. He has been identified with the "whole program that has covered Cuyahoga county with the most remarkable network of brick highways in the world, radiating in all directions from the city of Cleveland."

Permanent Road Cheap. "We were convinced early in the game," says Erick, "that there was no economy in cheap roads. We are building roads now that will last for fifty or a hundred years under the heaviest motor-driven traffic."

"Such a brick road, properly built, costs $1,000 a mile for each foot of width. Stone curbing with an expansion joint is used to protect the edge of the pavement. Usually one half of the road is paved, the right hand half for the heavier loaded traffic that is bound toward town. The other half of the road is graded and can be used in dry weather.

"The method of construction is to lay a solid concrete base and impose a two-inch sand and cushion for the brick. A great effort unites the brick into one solid substance.

Lower Living Cost. "Good roads are responsible for the growth of Cleveland's public markets, which are the chief check against the high cost of living. Easy transportation has changed a large part of the country into a vast garden. Rural life has become popular with the well-to-do people of Cleveland who reach the city daily by automobile and farm for health or incidentals. This vogue for fresh air coupled with accessible markets explains the immense rise in rural realty values."

This year's program calls for 119 miles more of rural brick roads to cater to the demand of a public which already has 1,000 miles of brick paving in city and county. Cleveland has just contracted for 43 miles of brick pavement caring for the improvement of 178 streets.

For a spray you will find Chamberlain's Liniment excellent. It allays the pain, removes the soreness and soon restores the parts to a healthy condition. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all druggists.

Wan, Weary and Worn Out

If You Feel Fagged to a Finish and Utterly Used Up Here is Quick Relief.

Don't Be Chained to the Hitching Post of Weariness.

Half the people you meet complain of weary muscles, stagnant blood, jangled nerves, and a mournful desire to lay down and just quit. Most of these people have been using nervines that spasmodically flare up the nerves only to die down again, as die they must. Avoid nerve stimulants. Bear in mind that this worn out feeling is due to poor blood, to bacteria in the water you drink; to the multiplying of destructive germs in the blood faster than they can be overcome by the white corpuscles; and to what is known as auto-toxemia, that condition where the venous or impure blood accumulates faster than it can be replaced by the red arterial blood.

If you feel played out go to any drug store and ask for a bottle of S. S. S., Swift's Sure Specific. Here is a remedy that gets at work in a twinkling. It just naturally rushes right into your blood, scatters germs right and left, up and down and sideways.

You feel better at once, not from a stimulant, not from the action of drugs, but from the rational effect of a natural medicine just as active and just as timely as to a man who has been lost in the mountains, is about starved and comes across a settler just cooking a savory meal of good honest beef. Do not neglect to get a bottle of S. S. S. today. It will make you feel better in just a few minutes. It is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 117 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Send for their free book telling of the many strange conditions that afflict the human family by reason of impoverished blood.
